

Moving Care From Hospital To Community: Selected Policy and Service Implications

Welcome To Our Symposium

The M-THAC Research Unit in collaboration with The CIHR Team in Community Care and Health Human Resources invites you to our 2007 joint farewell-welcome symposium. In the morning, this symposium will highlight the research done under M-THAC regarding the policy implications of the shift from hospital to home and community. The afternoon will introduce the activities planned and currently underway for the CIHR Team Grant.

Background

M-THAC

The CIHR-funded M-THAC (From Medicare to Home and Community) Research Unit (Director's R Deber and P Williams) brought together community partners and a wide variety of academic researchers from an eclectic assortment of disciplines to focus on the policy implications of the shift to home and community. It sparked a wide assortment of research projects with particular emphasis on rehabilitation, home care and long-term care.

CIHR TEAM GRANT

The CIHR Team Grant is a collaborative, trans-disciplinary partnership between community-based associations/organizations and academic researchers to study the implications of ongoing shifts of funding, services and health human resources between hospitals/ institutions and home/ community across the continuum of care. Building upon national and international partnerships established through the M-THAC, and the SSHRC-funded Canadian Research Network for Care in the Community (CRNCC), this Team has already sparked exciting projects with more to come.
